THE TURNER PRIZE: IS IT ART?

"Cold, mechanical, conceptual bullshit" is how culture minister Kim Howells has described this year's Turner Prize entries.

Do you find Mr Howells' frankness refreshing or limiting? Are his views old-fashioned to you or truthful? How much credibility does the controversial Turner Prize have with you?

TEXT 0

If you take the broad view that art is the expression of the individual for the enjoyment of the many, then the Turner entries are art if people enjoy them. That they are tenth-rate pieces of sub-kindergarten tat unfit to grace the interior of an abandoned skip is another matter. I congratulate these artists for making a tidy living out of the crass cow-like stupidity of the rest of us. (Alex Ainley, Italy)

TEXT 1

Every year we have the same controversy. Well, it is art, you may not like it or understand it but that doesn't stop it being art. I am pleased that many artists are not pandering to the 'chocolate box' tastes of the majority and at least attempting to push art forward in new directions. Personally, I find modern art exciting, and have done since my first visit to Madrid's Museum of Modern Art. Of course 'traditional' art has merit but not to the exclusion of contemporary art. (Martin, UK)

TEXT 2

I read a comment that said the entries for the Turner Prize at least made you think! Well I'm sorry but that is total nonsense. The entries don't make me think they just make me angry and sad. How anyone can possibly mistake the dross that some of these people call "art" is utterly beyond me, and, I would hope beyond most sane people! The minister made very honest comments and I would like to thank him on behalf of all of us who recognise this rubbish for what it really is: a way for people with no talent to gain some attention! (Kenny Toal, Scotland)

I'm very displeased with the Turner Prize and its given "celebrity" status. What you see on display is nothing new. Conceptual Art has been around for a long time (see Marcel Duchamp) so all these newcomers that are praised for their new ideas and for moving art into new directions are not pushing art into new directions at all. They are stuck and they have no new ideas or skill. Is the press making use of the lack of knowledge (notice I didn't use the word ignorance) from the public that makes the contest and its participants popular. (Antonio, UK)
